“However different
the criteria for art
and for science are,
there are also points
in common between them, inasmuch as
people working in
both fields are driven by curiosity. It is a matter of exploring
connections that
others have yet
to recognize, and
designing structures
that hitherto did not exist.”

György Ligeti, 1991
